Coleman People Are Injured In Collision

Two Coleman cars collided about six o'clock Saturday evening, demolishing both vehicles and sending occupants of both cars to the hospital.

It is said that Wasy Waslyin of Coleman, was proceeding west on number three highway, about one-quarter mile east of Emerald Lake when his car went into a skid on an icy section of the highway. The road was completely bare of ice about 50 yards east of the scene of the accident, and became icy where winds had carried and packed snow on the highway.

The second car, owned by Joe Wavrean, Jr., of Coleman, and occupied by Mr. Wavrean and his son Joe, was proceeding in an easterly direction, returning to Coleman from a fishing trip in British Columbia.

When Wasylin's 1950 Plymouth went into the skid, Mr. Wavrean was unable to get out of the way, and as a result broadsided the other car. The Wasylin car veered off the road and went over a bank on the south side of the highway and on coming to a stop some 60 feet in the ditch, caught fire and burned up.

Fortunately, Wasylin, who was knocked unconscious, was thrown out of his vehicle. Passing motorists from Calgary and Creston, B. C., coming upon the scene, rendered first aid and summoned an ambulance to take Wasylin to the Crow's Nest Pass Municipal Hospital.

Mr. Wavrean and his son were taken to hospital by car.

Rendering first aid to the injured were Ron Harris and Ron Vennetti of 1504 - 27th Ave., Calgary, and H. Lloyd Miller of Creston, B. C.

Both Mr. Wavrean and Mr. Wasylin were admitted to hospital, where they are now being treated for cuts, bruises and abrasions. Joe Wavrean, Jr., sustained a few minor cuts and bruises, but was not admitted to hospital.

Sports Association Hold Meeting

The Coleman Community Sports Association held a meeting Sunday, October 30, when it was decided the artificial ice skating and hockey arena be opened for use on November 7.

Ice-maker this season will be Martin Van Donk, to be assisted by Ernie Hill, who will also take over the duties of ticket taker. The committee decided that a complete check of the arena roof may be made so that if any leaks have developed repairs can be made immediately.

The Coleman Athletic Association will again take over the concession booths—profits from which are used for pee wee and other minor hockey league expenses.

The Coleman bank staff will again take charge of handling membership cards for those persons whose dues are not deducted from the mine payroll.

Schedules for hockey and skating nights were discussed and the same schedule as last year was adopted. Skating will be held on Mondays, Wednesdays, Fridays and Sunday evenings—while small children will be able to enjoy early afternoon skating on these days.

Hockey nights and practice nights will be on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday evenings, with a timetable to be set up for the various leagues in Coleman.

Poor Turnout at Fish & Game Meet

Coleman Fish and Game Association held a meeting in the basement of the Grand Union Hotel on Thursday evening when a disappointingly small turnout of seven members was present.

Purpose of the meeting was to ask members to prepare and suggest ideas for improving fishing conditions in the Crow's Nest Pass area and the ideas would form part of the next project to be undertaken by the Association.

The membership report was given by Henry Thierghien, which indicated that the membership this year showed a decrease of 40 members from 160 to the present 120 members. A drive is to be made to increase membership to an objective of 165 members.

Remembrance Day, Friday, November 11th

LEST WE FORGET

The Coleman Legion has announced that a short service will be held at the Cenotaph following church services on Remembrance Day, November 11th. Crowsnest Lake Recreational Centre ?

Some 35 interested persons attended a meeting held in the Grand Union Hotel on the evening of Thursday, October 27 to hear William Kovach, M.L.A., as chairman pro tem, outline a plan for converting Crow's Nest Lake into a recreation centre for the residents of the Crow's Nest Pass. Main item of the plan was a scheme of diverting a cold flow of water away from the east end of the lake so that this water would heat naturally by sun's rays to a temperature that would be suitable for swimming. At present the water in the lake is subject to a flow of cold water under the surface, making the lake too cold for swimming purposes.

Rev. Dean Tessier of Blairmore, was appointed as chairman of the committee, and Mrs. H. (Anna) Jones was appointed secretary.

With such an interest showed by citizens it was decided to form a committee to study the feasibility of the project. The committee, besides Chairman Rev. Tessier, will comprise Coleman representative John Kinnear, Dick Morgan of Blairmore, and Ernest Goulding of Bellevue.

The committee's name will be the Crow's Nest Pass Recreational Committee and they will meet with an East Kootenay representative and will request a meeting with an engineer of the Water Resources Department to look into the matter. It is the hope of the committee that if the project is feasible that it can be undertaken as a winter works project.

Coleman Lions Enjoy Charter Nite Party

The Coleman Lions Club celebrated its twentieth anniversary at a banquet held in the Elks' hall in Coleman last week-end, — when some 60 members, their wives and friends enjoyed a social evening.

Following the turkey supper, President John Owen introduced Past District Governor, Lion Stan Morris of Magrath, who is International Public Relations officer.

Lion Morris gave an interesting address of some of the highlights and events that he experienced while making 58 official visits and travelling some 36,000 miles as a district governor. He remarked on various conventions he had attended and closed his address with congratulations to the Coleman Lions on the occasion of their anniversary. President John Owen then called on Lion Stu Murdoch, a charter member of the Coleman Lions Club.

Lion Murdoch gave a resume' of the club's activities and projects undertaken in its 20 years as a successful service club. He mentioned that Phil Baker of Lethbridge, was District Governor at the time of Coleman's installation. He added that it was felt that a Lions Club at that time would not be successful and would die out but the strong charter members of the club kept the organization on its feet.

The first president of the club was Dr. Ross with Percy Dickleson as first secretary.

Harding, Al Haysom, Joe Kirk, Garfield Picard, Jim Sharp, Ray Spillars, Harry Thomas, Archie Wragg and Arthur Wyman.

Outlining some of the club's activities, Lion Murdoch mentioned the club's successful sale of war savings certificates, providing funds for plastic surgery for a local youth who had severe electrical burns to his face, organizing a drama festival in Coleman in 1942, which featured four one-act plays directed by Arthur Graham, while Provincial Treasurer Hillman acted as adjudicator.

He mentioned the club bringing in the University of Alberta choir at the Pass and also mentioned the Lions doing Boy Scout work for the past ten years. He also made mention of other charitable affairs that were sponsored by the Coleman Lions.

In concluding his remarks, Lion Murdoch stated that he was very proud to be a member of such an international club.

Following the addresses, entertainment was provided by Gene Pabro, tallwater Jim Montalbetti, and George Jenkins in a drawing game. An apple dip also provided humorous fun when Lions members Ted Kryczka and Jim Montalbetti did their best to retrieve apples from a tub of water, using only their teeth to pick up the apples.

An evening of games and dancing then followed.

OF MANY THINGS

(By Ambrose Hills)

Of Health, Wealth and Happiness

It is fairly safe to predict that most everybody in Canada wants health, wealth and happiness; and it is equally safe to say that most everybody disagrees to some extent on how those blessings can be achieved.

Often the methods used to obtain wealth certainly do not bring either happiness or good health. For example, if our government forced us all at gun point to slave hard for ten to twelve hours per day at assigned jobs, there is very little doubt but that we'd become a powerful and wealthy country - for a time.

We would not be happy, however, and our energies and initiative and inventiveness would wither fast. Some nations, at this very moment in history, are doing just that - forcing their people to produce for the State at a tremendous speed in an effort to catch up to us.

They have made great progress in some lines; but have fallen far short in others. There are indications that the people have tired under this regimentation and coercion, and some of the governments are now using incentives more like ours to get production out of the citizens. Russia, for example, is rapidly adopting many of our capitalist incentives.

Canada probably has the best system of all. We do not aim for wealth alone. Our governments use persuasion for more than coercion to encourage us to produce. We are not the wealthiest people in the world, but we are a healthy and happy people.

It would be a terrible blunder, in my opinion, if we changed our course and aimed at wealth alone. If our spiritual values - freedom, happiness, self-reliance, etc. - were sacrificed in order to assure wealth, wealth would turn to ashes in our mouths.

Fact is, the wealth we did gain in such a manner would not last, because human beings, like race horses, cannot be whipped to the tape too often or the spirit dies.

There is a great deal of talk about economic growth these days. Some economists seem ready to sacrifice almost anything to achieve it. Most Canadians, however, while eager to see economic growth, are far more eager to hold onto the spiritual values which, in the long run, would make such growth a real and lasting thing.

"I Didn't Know It Was Loaded"

The guns are roaring, the hunters are a-broad and carcasses will soon turn up on fenders and car tops. The all-too-familiar excuse - "I didn't know it was loaded" - will also turn up in the reports of hunting fatalities.

The motors are roaring, the drivers are a-broad and human carcasses will turn up on fenders and streets and roads. The all-too-familiar excuse - "I didn't know I was loaded" - will continue to turn up in the reports of traffic accidents.

The difference is that "I didn't know I was loaded" knows no season. The drinking driver is abroad throughout the year, the motorist who didn't realize how far a drink or two could dull his senses and cloud his responses and responsibilities.

The Canadian Highway Safety Council warns all drivers that drinking is as serious a menace when the drinker has a loaded gun in his hands as when he has an automobile under his control. In both cases the lives of human beings are at stake.

Post Office Experiments With New Service

OTTAWA, Ont. - Canada's first experiment in the transportation of mail by railway 'piggy-back' services will be undertaken by the post office next week. It was announced recently by the Hon. William Hamilton, Postmaster General.

Working in co-operation with the Canadian National Railways, the post office will inaugurate a two-week experiment linking Toronto and Quebec City by piggy-back mail service. The service will include second, third and fourth class mail not normally handled by the post office's 'all-up' air service for first class mail.

In the piggy-back system, highway transport trailers are loaded on special railway flat cars and are delivered by rail to the nearest railway point. They are hauled directly from the freight terminal to their destination providing point-to-point service with low shipping costs. The Postmaster General said that the railways had co-operated in the experiment by loaning tractors and trailers and by adjusting fast freight schedules to ensure punctual handling of the mails.

The first shipment of the experiment left Toronto on Monday, November 7. It arrived in Quebec City the next day.

During the two-week experiment, post office officials will study the service to determine costs and efficiency factors. Postal officials noted that piggy-back services are increasing rapidly in Canada and that the post office must obtain experience in the handling of mail by this type of service, as well as obtain first-hand information about costs and operating problems.

Mr. Hamilton said that the experiment represented another phase of the post office's continuing study of modernization and mechanization of mail handling methods.

Canada Savings Bonds Sale

Latest figures on the third progress report released by the Bank of Canada show that 7749 applications have bought $7,865,300 worth of bonds to date in Alberta through banks, investment dealers and trust companies.

In addition, employees of companies in Southern Alberta continue to show that they appreciate the opportunity to save a portion of their income through purchases of Canada Savings Bonds on the payroll savings plan.

Mr. George Kent and William Fulton, the payroll savings organizers for Southern Alberta, announce that sales have now exceeded one and a half million dollars and there are over 4900 purchasers. This represents a 17 per cent increase in sales over last year and a 13 per cent increase in number of purchasers.

Besides these results, over 1800 employees of the Civil Service and Armed Forces in Southern Alberta have signed up for $500,000 worth of Canada Savings Bonds.

In assessing the campaign to date Mr. Kent and Mr. Fulton say "We feel that the best purchasers come from the older group of employees. Therefore, newer employees should be offered more encouragement to save in order to build up the habits of thrift developed by their elders. A person who is able to save money soon develops a wonderful sense of security - and for this reason the Bank of Canada hope that every employee will be given the opportunity to save."

bridge, and Mrs. F. W. Gray of Seattle, Wash., and two sons, Bert Shepherd of Lethbridge, and Walter Shepherd of New Westminster, B.C.

Red Cross Sends Supplies To Burma

Close to 5,000 articles of children's clothing, layettes and bedding left Red Cross provincial headquarters in Calgary on October 31st for Vancouver enroute to Burma.

The supplies, which filled 12 cases were shipped in response to word from Red Cross National headquarters that hundreds of Burmese children and infants were desperately in need of warm clothes. Value of supplies shipped is estimated at $2,383. The clothing will be distributed through the Burma Red Cross.

The Mistake In The Paper

We make mistakes, of course, and so do you; Though ours are brought much more to public view. They flaunt themselves, derisive, in our face, We'd give a lot if we could but erase Them, but we cannot; and our plight Is sealed. They're down in black and white! Much as we may deplore them, we refuse to spend Our time apologizing. In the end We must console ourselves in the thought That without errors little work is wrought.

Perfection's a fine goal at which to aim. But the unhappy man who shrinks from blame, Whenever false notes creep into his work, Oft is inclined his daily tasks to shirk.

We much prefer an active role to fill, And "let the scattering chips fall where they will!"

—Doane F. Kiechel,

(in the Superior Express 30 years ago.)

In 1959 sales in Canada's department stores reached a record $1,420,311,000, up 5.6 per cent.

Correction

In the last issue of The Journal we reported in the Elks' 35th anniversary write-up that Glen Poulton was not present to receive his 15-year button. It should have read that he was present.

Back in 1945, just 15 years ago, there were less than 1,000 farms throughout Alberta using Calgary Power service. Today, over 30,000 farms are connected to our facilities, either directly or through Rural Electrification Associations. Farmers are using a significant amount of our total electrical production.

The Browns, spending a day on the farm, have discovered that electricity does everything for farm wives that it does for city wives — and that it does much more besides. It milks cows, pumps water, chops feed, heats brooder houses, powers all kinds of motors — in short, electricity has become the modern farmer's new hired hand. Providing electrical service to more and more Alberta farmers is part of our picture of service.
